Stop risky, polluting traditions like building log pyramid bonfires

I would think that, in this day and age of ozone depletion, air pollution, and dwindling natural resources, such traditions as the log pyramid in Texas would be discontinued, especially with the loss of lives. This is ridiculous.

Daily papers profiting off millenium's 'dawn'

Let's see if you have the courage to take on the Detroit Newspaper Agencies.

When presented with the facts, will you be willing to do the right thing or turn a blind eye to their illicit behavior because they are in the same business? Who polices the newspaper industry if not yourselves?

Their behavior gives a black eye to all newspapers. You have an opportunity to distinguish yourselves above the rest. Here is the story:

The Detroit Newspapers (the News and the Free Press) are selling space in their paper to the public at large for $5.00 a pop. The illegal part is that they claim in their radio ad that the first day of the next millennium is Jan. 1, 2000, when they know well and good that the next millennium does not begin until Jan. 1, 2001.

The following is an e-mail that I received from John X. Miller, an editor at the Free Press:

From: Miller, John X.
miller@freepress.com.

Jeff:
I believe the promotion actually says "dawn of new millennium." We did this in an attempt to recognize that millennium starts Jan. 1, 2001, but to take advantage of the market and promotion opportunity that are commonplace now.

Deepwell protesters: keep project out of city

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Over 500 persons crushed into Romulus High School Monday night to voice their opposition to the deepwell injection project being pressed by Environmental Disposal Systems of Birmingham.

They came from Washington (Congresswoman Lynn Rivers and a spokesman for Congressman John Dingell), from Lansing (State Sen. Chris Dingell and Rep. Raymond Basham) and from Romulus/Taylor and many neighboring communities.

For the first time it appeared that political leaders and citizens from various southeast communities took up the protest banner originally hoisted by RECAP, a Romulus based citizens anti-well group from Romulus.

Romulus Mayor William Oakley stated "we have shown that Romulus does not want this well project."

Oakley also stated that he felt that the state should push to have creators of such hazardous waste in Michigan, eliminate that waste on their own properties.

Even Southgate Mayor Sue Hall, who has only been in office 11 days, turned out to explain to the state's 10-member Site Review Board that the environmental well issue was really a regional not two-city matter.

Hall cited that two major truck overturnings in the area in recent days could have caused major problems if they were filled with hazardous liquids.

Rivers -- who kicked off the five hour hearing session in the crowded school auditorium -- urged the SRB to listen closely at the hearing. "The people are already leading...it is time for us to follow."

In most cases the crowd was orderly, but they did become boisterous verbally and waved their anti-well signs vigorously, whenever a person spoke out in favor of the well proposal.

Romulus police -- including a K-9 officer and dog -- were at the meeting to ensure order throughout the public hearing.

The next scheduled session in the long SRB series of hearings will occur at 7 p.m. Dec. 16 at the high school.

At that time the 10 board members will openly discuss various issues that will ultimately lead to their recommendation for or against the well project by April 11 or before.

Scores of anti-well activists flashed their protest signs Monday night to show their opposition to plans by Environmental Disposal Systems to create a deepwell project that could accept hazardous liquid waste. MCN Photo by Al Post.

Texas activist invites SRB to visit Winona...

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A Texas environmental activist, invited to Romulus for the Monday Site Review Board hearing on the deepwell project, has in turn urged members of the SRB to visit Winona, Tex. to view the impact of an earlier commercial hazardous deepwell project there.

Phyllis Glazer, president of Mothers Organized to Stop Environmental Sins (MOSES), first visited students at Romulus High School during the day and then spoke to the SRB at night.

Phyllis Glazer, formerly of Winona, Texas, displays a "Wasted Babies Doll" and a poster depicting the fact because of a deepwell project there, some black babies are born with white skin and other mutations. MCN Photo by Al Post.

Glazer issued dire warnings about "inviting that kind of devil (a hazardous waste company) to your town."

She claims that soil impacted by explosions via a deepwell project down there has now made it so that "we cannot move our soil."

She claimed that the small town of less than 500 had no contingency plan for such an environmental disaster since it had only $2,000 in the town's treasury.

Thus she urged the SRB to visit Winona before they make any advisory statement on the Romulus site.

She left the SRB two items for their studies (1) a Wasted Babies Doll sponsored by her MOSES group and (2) a poster that she claims depicts a white faced child born to a black family.

The MOSES group claims the deepwell explosions, etc. caused such alterations in newly born children in the Winona area.

City Councilwoman Debbie Romak -- who helped bring Glazer to Romulus -- told the gathering Romulus doesn't want to switch from being "Gateway to the World" to a future "Wasteway to the World."

She urged the SRB to take Glazer's statements seriously, since she has lived through it.

City loses round to EDS

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Only hours after a lengthy public hearing before the state's Site Review Board, the city learned that its request for a judicial review of the issuance of deepwell permits to Environmental Disposal Systems for the Citrin Drive facility has been denied.

Ingham County Court Judge Peter Houk ruled Monday that the permits issued by the Judge Peter Houk disagreed with the city and has ruled that the DEQ has the proper authority.

state's Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) were legal and proper.

Copies of the opinion were released late Tuesday morning.

Thus the Consent Agreement between EDS and the DEQ stands and requires EDS to permanently plug (and abandon) the deepwell on Wahrman Road in Romulus, after its Citrin Drive deepwell facility becomes operational.

Romulus had claimed that there was no "need" for the EDS deepwell on Citrin Drive -- because EDS had already constructed such a facility on Wahrman Road.

Houk disagreed with the city and has ruled that the DEQ has the proper authority to issue the new permits.

Retired City Councilman Jimmie Raspberry -- who served during the early deepwell litigation battles in Romulus -- appeared Monday night to tell residents "if you don't want the well ... change the laws." MCN Photo by Al Post.

New Hope Baptist Church planning groundbreaking

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The official groundbreaking for the new home site of the New Hope Missionary Baptist Church of Wayne will take place at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Pastor Virgil Humes, who has headed the church currently located at 5403 S. Wayne Road for the past nine years, revealed the church has been at that site for a quarter of a century.

The new site will be 33640 Michigan Avenue.

A Christmas concert is being planned for 6 p.m. Dec. 12 by the choir at the First Baptist Church of Wayne.

The public is invited to the concert that will feature 85 persons and 3,500 holiday lights inside the sanctuary.

A spokeswoman said the musical contains pieces that are "emotional, spectacular and beautiful" to hear and bears the theme I Have Seen the Light.

The concert contains traditional holiday music, Broadway songs and new melodies.

The church is located at 36125 Glenwood in Wayne.

The Mariners Church of Detroit will mark its 150th Christmas Eve service in its current church home this holiday season with services at both 7 and 11 p.m.

Initially the church was located in an old wooden facility that opened its doors back in 1849.

Free parking is in the Ford Auditorium Underground Garage, which is entered in the median of Jefferson Avenue at the foot of Woodward Avenue.

At its inception the church hosted not only American sailors, but foreign seamen visiting the Great Lakes area.

The church was established by a will offered by Julia Anderson, a woman born into a maritime family. She later became the wife of Col. John Anderson, the first commandant of the U.S. Topographical Corps of Engineers in Detroit.

Mariners Church also is the only church in Michigan incorporated by an act of the Michigan legislature in 1842.

The church building was made in Perpendicular Gothic style common to English communities.

Despite extensive renovations, the church still retains its original white pine floors, black walnut pews, the altar with three teaching stations and many diamond shaped windows.

Please call me or put your address in the paper.

{Sorry for the inconvenience. Our address is Michigan Community Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne MI 48184.}

With the winter weather approaching many residents have purchased generators to use as alternative sources of electricity in the event of a power outage. The Canton Department of Public Safety would like residents to follow all safety precautions when operating a generator.
Prior to buying, hooking up or running any auxiliary power equipment to your home you should consult a qualified, licensed electrician and your local electrical utility (in this case Detroit Edison) to learn what is involved in operating this equipment safely.

The purchase of a generator is only one part of the cost of operating a generator. Approved, licensed installation of electrical disconnect and hook up equipment to your home is required.
All generators must be run from outside the building as they produce Carbon Monoxide, just like a car engine. And must be refueled frequently, depending on the size of the fuel tank, and the generator must be cooled down prior to refueling.
Generators will not provide or replace the normal power levels that the utility provides. Generators only provide minimal power for essential lighting and not much, if anything beyond that.

Canton area peacekeeper in Sinai

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

While many in the area are busy hanging their Christmas greens and holiday lights, Army Private First Class Robert Serini is preparing to serve guard on a tower 3,000 feet above the Red Sea.

Serini, son of Peter Serini of Canton, is currently serving in the Sinai as part of a large peacekeeping force made up of military personnel from 11 different nations.

The multinational force and observers unit was created back in 1982 to help ensure the peace between Israel and Egypt following 50 years of ongoing hostilities.

Being away from home for the holidays is difficult, and this is the second year I'll be missing from home.

- Private Serini

The multinational force is divided into two main camps - a detachment of coastal patrol vessels, an engineering unit and 30 observation posts scattered throughout the vast sand dunes, mountain peaks and the shores of the Red Sea.

Serini serves as a squad medic...as well as a peacekeeper in the once hostile land.

"I conduct daily sick calls on site and maintain appropriate storage levels and control of medical supplies. I also respond to medical emergencies and assist in observation missions," he said.

Often isolated and knowing that the holiday season is swiftly approaching, Serini declares "my biggest challenge is overcoming homesickness. Thus I write letters to my family and friends to help alleviate that sadness."

The 1993 Plymouth-Canton

Canton soldier and medic Robert Serini checks the blood pressure of one of the fellow peacekeepers now serving in the Sinai.

High School graduate however states "just knowing that my loved ones care about me really keeps me going."

Serini - who is in the midst of the land of ancient history - knows that the Sinai area is filled with three religious traditions, namely Judaism, Christianity and Islam.

Thus he says he gets an "incredible feeling knowing he is now working in the same place where God gave Moses the Ten Commandments and where the Israelites wandered about 40 years."

His military peers face vicious sand storms, scalding temperatures and potential land mine explosions while serving there.

For the more than 800 servicemen assigned to peacekeeping duties there, Christmas will be just another day of work except for a small holiday meal and possibly a small Christmas tree.

"Being away from home for the holidays is difficult," Serini said, "and this is the second year I'll be missing from home. I miss the fun of giving presents in person."

Thus once again Serini will be living that age old Christmas theme - of keeping "peace on earth and offering goodwill toward men."

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A free holiday concert is slated at 7 p.m. Dec. 9 at the Wayne County Community College's Northwest Campus auditorium.

The concert offered by the WCCC's Performing Arts Department will mimic a talent search as seen on national TV. Everyone is invited and we're hoping this concert becomes an annual event, said Dr. Joann Pieronek, vice chancellor for Educational Affairs.

The concert is being coordinated by James Tatum, part-time music faculty member.

A special guest will be Dr. Murray Jackson, founding president of WCCC, who will entertain the audience with readings from his works.

Other entertainers will be local piano students and students from the college's dance department.

In addition Jeanetta Carr, a former student from Murray-Wright High School, will be a guest soprano soloist.

A choir from Detroit Commerce High School will perform under the direction of Sylvia Greenwood and the Ars Nova Ensemble from Osborn

High School under the direction of Edward Dawson will add to the entertainment flavor.

Refreshments will be provided.

Kudos to Plymouth-Canton band, Belleville basketball

Out of all the Western Wayne sports teams that started practice this fall, few would have thought the Belleville Tigers girl's basketball team would have lasted this long in state playoffs. Many would have bet on Romulus's football fortunes. Others would have placed money on Westland John Glenn's gridiron tradition.

But Belleville has outlasted them all with the help of two sisters that are seeking the same goal their father accomplished exactly 30 years ago - a state basketball championship. Senior Ryann Kilgore, 6'1" and Junior Kristen Kilgore, 6', are leading the Tigers as they attempt to get to the promised land. Father Bill, 6'7", was the star for River Rouge, when it won a Class B title 30 years ago.

With a record of 24-1 (the lone defeat to Ann Arbor Pioneer was avenged a couple of weeks ago), Belleville takes on #1 ranked, Lansing Everett, owners of a perfect 25-0 record in a quarterfinal game this week. Belleville got to the quarterfinals by beating a very good Adrian team, 60-33 last weekend. It is widely expected, that the team that wins the Belleville-Everett game, will be crowned state champions.

Some might say the Kilgore sisters have made the Belleville basketball program one of the best. They certainly play a big role, but the credit really ought to go to second year coach, Kevin Edwards. He has coached exactly fifty games and has lost only three. That is a phenomenal record for essentially a rookie coach. I suspect we are witnessing a dynasty in the making.

While we're on the subject, another after school activity deserves recognition. The Plymouth-Canton High School Band has been named the best marching band in the state of Michigan. Did I say Michigan? Strike that! Unbelievably, Plymouth-Canton was selected the best marching band in the entire country.

Competition was held in early November in Indianapolis. Bands from all over the country participated. Plymouth-Canton won the AAA class which is for schools with more than 1500 students. Even more incredible is the fact that this is the third time the school has won the championship in the 1990's.

Although Plymouth-Canton band members have grown accustomed to being the best, they are not resting on their laurels. Each day after school the band practices for several hours. Then on Saturday, it usually is a full day of practicing. It adds up to nearly 40-hour practice hours per week.

The national recognition, however, seems to make it all worthwhile. Plymouth-Canton scored a 97 out of 100 in their eleven minute presentation. That was the best score garnered by the 82 marching bands that were invited to compete. We would like to extend our congratulations to each and every band member for a job well done.

Sewage dispute may wake up Canton

Turnabout is fair play. Canton Township competes with banquet halls, health clubs, softball diamond rentals, has dabbled in the music lesson business, and profits from garbage tipping fees while regulating their competitors or partners.

Currently the proposed Electropolitan, which plans to build two Roman-style banquet rooms, must trim its outdoor dining area at the township's request. Don't want the Electropolitan to be too nice, do we?

While most people could see the potential conflicts of interest, the downsides of these conflicts don't seem to phase anybody at township hall. Blinded by the extra tipping fees, the board weasels on promises to nearby residents not to raise the landfill's height limit, downgrading the community, and attracting a fourth trailer park in the area. To patch up social problems created by designating a large area as a sinkhole, the township expands social services, adds police, and sets up a temporary police office.

You'd think the township could follow the example of Birmingham or, most recently, Waterford, and hire planners to redesign the township to strengthen neighborhoods, stimulate local businesses, do a better job of blending automotive, pedestrian, and bicycle traffic, save a natural feature or two, and plant a little local culture beyond an occasional art exhibit at the Summit.

Instead of building a community, the township chooses to leverage its regulatory powers by dabbling in the private sector.

But the tables turned recently when the township decided to purchase property in Ypsilanti Township to build a waste-treatment plant that would compete with the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority's (YCUA) plant, a plant owned by Ypsilanti Township and City.

Canton tried to submit a site plan to Ypsilanti Township's planning department.

Guess what happened? Canton's plant went the way of the Electropolitan's outdoor dining.

Ypsilanti Township apparently no more wants a sludge treatment competitor than Canton apparently wants a banquet hall competitor.

Governing well is difficult enough without complicating matters with potential conflicts of interest. Now that it's Canton's turn to be on the receiving end of a competitor's justice, I hope they untangle themselves from all of their extracurricular activities and begin to grapple with the township's poor planning policies and baffling priorities.

As for the sewage dispute, Canton has a legitimate beef against YUCA, which has denied Canton, Plymouth, and Northville townships a voice in YUCA's decisions. Since the townships are YUCA's largest customer, they should have a say in decisions that could result in price hikes for the townships' residents.

Unfortunately, there is no way to guarantee sewage prices. They are too subject to the whim of unelected federal judges and administrators who tend to penalize treatment plants as environmental standards change.

There's really nothing to be gained by building a new plant.

Canton, Northville, and Plymouth would save themselves a lot of time, effort, and trouble by bargaining with as many sewer capacity providers as possible for the best rates instead of getting into the sewer business.

Pick up Ray Walsh's lance ... and keep fighting for decency

Hundreds of Michigan citizens, law enforcement and religious leaders will pause today to honor the memory of Ray Walsh -- described as "a champion of decency."

Walsh, 52, was found dead in his van on Nov. 23 - a few scant days after he was last seen by his family in their Northville home.

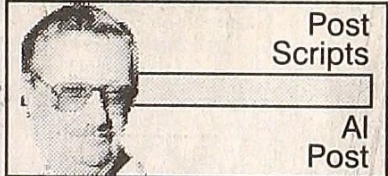

At 11 a.m. today friends and admirers of the legacy of Ray Walsh will gather at Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church to recount the scores of memories they share on Walsh's impact on Michigan and on Wayne County residents in particular.

Several years ago when incumbent County Prosecutor John O'Hair stopped by this office in search of an editorial endorsement for a new four year term, this writer praised O'Hair for the county's strong stance against pornography, lap dancing, and other anti-family lifestyles.

Without missing a beat, the veteran prosecutor stated firmly -- "Oh you can thank Ray Walsh for that!"

That comment strongly strengthened the resolve of this writer -- who has listened for decades and heard Christians and others call out "What can one person do?"

Walsh instead marched to a more dedicated drummer -- one who vows that wrong is wrong even if everyone is doing it and right is right even if no one is doing it.

Post Scripts

Thanks be to God and the Ray Walshes of Wayne County, we haven't fallen to that second level yet.

For those with only short memories, Ray Walsh and others who refuse to accept the theory that pornography and all that goes with it (live public sexual activities) cannot be contained and even eliminated when a concerned public joins a decency battle together.

Last Thursday, we are sure that many churches -- particularly in Inkster -- uttered great thanks that the Melody Theatre is no longer visible to those riding along Michigan Avenue.

But that was only one of the last great crusades that Walsh saw to a finish.

He had been conducting such battles for the Michigan family for 25 years and his political and law enforcement counsel has been sought out by many.

Bill Johnson, head of the newly named American Decency Association (formerly the Michigan chapter of the American Family Association) will be one of those today who shares his memories of Walsh's great role in battles that have helped purify today's family lifestyles.

Johnson called Walsh "the most knowledgeable person in the state of Michigan on the obscenity law" including the 1991 amended state law signed by Gov. John Engler.

Alan Sears -- president of the Alliance Defense Fund -- said "Walsh was one of the finest minds in America on the issue of the anti-pornography law. Just as important" -- and maybe more important -- Walsh "knew how to win in court."

He also was a major force in the "mother of all obscenity raids" that uncovered $68 million in adult videos and magazines from a Livonia store that supplied nine states or more with such illicit materials.

Those close to Walsh reveal that he strongly believed like it states in that great classic Christian hymn -- "let us not forget that though the wrong seems oft so strong, God is the ruler yet."

Thus it behooves us -- along with those at today's memorial service -- not to falter, because we have lost such a great warrior, but to pick up that lance and add even more of our heart, mind, spirit and muscle to the cause.

In this era of family demoralization it is also refreshing to know that Walsh's two daughters vow they -- "want to marry a man like Dad!"

That is a tribute that any dad would love to hear.

Wayne resident thanks city animal control officer

To the Editor:

There aren't too many times I've had the occasion to meet up with the City of Wayne's Animal Control Officer, Mr. Jim Smith, but through his services with the removal of my aging dog from our home, I am warmly saying thank you to him for his professionalism.

After owning my dog for all of his almost eighteen years, it was a disheartening decision to do the humane thing by having him put to sleep when medical marvels could no longer sustain his battle with arthritis.

Although I could not emotionally be the one to call the office of Mr. Smith to arrange for his pick-up, I was told through family members of his kind words, gentleness with my dog, respect and his utmost professionalism. Knowing that Buddy was respected as an animal means so much to me and my family, thank you Mr. Smith, your demeanor during this difficult time was greatly appreciated!

Sincerely,
Carol Dodgens

Media should cover the Reform Party's WTO protest

It was also great to see James Hoffa and Pat Buchanan on the same "television" stage. I think the WTO==

Realtors often profit from public office

Letter To the Editor:

The past few weeks our local papers have had letters from people that do not seem to understand how politics works, or maybe I should say, how politicians work. This may also be the reason so many people do not desire to vote in our elections.

A question was raised as to why a realtor (top spender) would spend so much money to get elected to an office that pays only a small fraction of what he spent on the election.

I would like to ask a bigger question: Why would people elect a person that for four years sat on the Wayne Westland School Board and do almost nothing, except agree with everyone without saying much in comments, except when his position on the Planning Commission was questioned?

I keep seeing people run for the school board with very little interest in the welfare of the students, only to run for the next higher office. It's almost like they run for name recognition, or to keep their name before the people. For this I applaud the "Bud" Winters and Matthew McCuskers that had/have the true interest of the schools in mind, when they run for office.

Back to the original question. Realtors and those that invest in property have for a long time prospered while on city boards. They have "first hand knowledge" of areas or homes being condemned or being rezoned. They find out what areas are planned to be "upgraded" by city services or other city policies. In other words, they will know the areas to invest, in order to make the fastest and best return on their investments. They have first hand knowledge of any grants that become available to the city and their position can help them in other financial ways.

Now by this, I am not saying this type of person is crooked or anything like that. They just have the ability to use the system to their advantage if they wish to.

There were statements as to the outcome of the elections, especially with the mail in votes. Mayor Thomas ensures the elderly are well cared for, as he should. He also takes care of the employees that work for the city during every contract period. With this in mind, it shouldn't be any surprise that these people voted for everyone the mayor recommended.

Maybe this will give the voter something to think about, when the next elections come around.

As a side note, we keep hearing about the proposed recreation complex and the famous questionnaire. Do you remember any mention on that questionnaire that asks if you want a new City Hall built? Mayor Thomas has sort of joined the two issues together as if the people have asked for both of these. I wonder why this hasn't been an issue by this paper as well as our City Council.

Sincerely,
Jack Stange

Patterson bill closer to stopping dirty campaign tricks

To the Editor:

This week I joined the House Committee on Constitutional Law and Ethics in approving House Bill 5058. I serve as Vice Chair of the committee.

The bill makes it a misdemeanor to file a false complaint with the Secretary of State alleging a campaign committee or candidate violated the Michigan Campaign Finance Act.

The House panel on Tuesday, November 2, took testimony on the nine- bill "Voter Protection Act." Mark Brewer, chairman of the Michigan Democratic Party, testified before the committee. While supportive of the concept of HB 5058, Brewer suggested technical changes to the legislation. After the hearing, Brewer and I discussed potential revisions to make the legislation fair for all parties.

I'm glad to have bipartisan support of the bill. Chairman Brewer offered thoughtful suggestions and was willing to work across party lines to help make good public policy. I thank him.

The bill attempts the end the "dirty tricks" practice of filing false complaints against rival candidates which are then used only to generate negative publicity.

Voters deserve more respect from candidates and political parties. They want to know where the candidates stand on the issues important to them. They don't want to hear a bunch of mudslinging.

I expect the bill to see action on the House floor next week, where amendments will be offered to make the changes offered by Brewer and me.

Sincerely,
Rep. Bruce Patterson,

HMOs work hard to pick patients who will not not get sick.

Dear Editor:

Great social advances occur rarely in this country. Mostly they happen when either private industry or a Republican president is in disgrace.

The Great Depression, for example, brought us Social Security, labor laws, bank reform, and a host of other humane innovations. Richard Nixon gave us Medicare and the Earned Income Tax Credit.

That's why the future of various badly needed reforms now looks so bleak. Private industry is hot, claiming credit for 4 percent unemployment and a 10,000 Dow. And the president isn't even Republican.

So instead of blessed reform, we're getting regression. Important banking regulations have been repealed, and Congress is trying to privatize Social Security.

What chance, then, for poor old health care? We watch helplessly as drug companies merge and charge unconscionable prices, as hospitals fail, as Medicare and Medicaid fraud booms, as seniors can't afford prescriptions, and worst of all, as 43 million of us aren't insured.

Cures for these and other health crises seem far away, since both Congress and the White House prefer not to look beyond the standard corporate solutions.

That's bad news. Not every health crisis has a standard corporate solution. Neither Medicare nor Medicaid came to us from Wall Street.

They couldn't. There's no profit in them. The Sick-ness Industry needs profit. That's why the industry will spend bottomlessly to get Harry, Louise, and Flo in television ads against any sensible reform. Somewhat less publicized will be its plump campaign contributions to senators and congressmen.

We already know the great power of these contributions. Most Americans want, say, gun control, but Congress won't pass it. Most Americans also want campaign finance reform, but Congress won't pass that either. And most Americans want us to pay up all our United Nations dues without strings, but Congress won't even do that. The fact that most Americans want national health care has about as much impact.

Our two most throbbing health needs today are a national insurance system and utility-style regulation of drug companies. In lieu of universal coverage, the HMO was invented to try to give the Sick-ness Industry a chance to make a buck, and to keep us healthy at the same time. But it flopped. It's far too costly, and it's leaving ever more citizens with no coverage at all. The Medicare system is far cheaper -- no advertising, no salesmen, no big salaries, and only one bureaucracy.

The real solution, then, is a similar agency for everyone under 65, which every boss would pay into. It would cover us all.

Drug companies would require a different approach. They'd be treated as public utilities, guaranteed a profit on qualified research, but not allowed to gouge. They could merge to their hearts' content, but not abuse their monopoly. Americans could then enjoy the lower prescription prices common in Canada and Mexico, and we could afford to include drugs under Medicare. Lastly, there's fraud. It can ruin any system. Whether it's organized crime (as is now alleged), thieving HMOs, thieving doctors, thieving equipment companies, or just plain thieving patients, we have to approach it fiercely, like the War on Drugs. In fact if we included a universal right to narcotics treatment, we could scrap much of the War on Drugs and have plenty of money left for fighting medical fraud.

Sincerely,
William A. Collins

Filling in the Spaces

Question: Why do the cost of dentures differ from office to office?

Answer: That is a good question. The best way I can answer that is to explain that the care and quality with which dentures are made varies from office to office.

The tried and true method for making a quality set of dentures involves several steps: You first begin with a complete and thorough examination. The dentist then takes a preliminary impression, followed by a final, more accurate impression. The proper jaw relationship is determined, followed by a try-in of a waxed set of dentures. Finally, the completed dentures are delivered.

The dentist then follows up with after care appointments.

Now, some dentists may skip one or more of those steps in an attempt to cut time and cost. For example, some dentists use the preliminary impression as a final impression. Others may use lower quality materials. While this may save money and time, the fit of the final dentures may not be as good.

And as anyone who has had a less than good set of dentures knows, they can be a real nuisance. Poor fitting dentures may be loose in the mouth, causing bone and gum tissue damage and can prevent proper chewing and talking. As the old saying goes: You get what you pay for.

Call Newburgh Heights Dental Group and take that step to the quality you deserve.

Quarterfinal matches state's No. 1, No. 2 teams

Can Belleville's intimidating height top an unstoppable Lansing Everett?

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Thirty years after he helped River Rouge win the Class B state basketball championship, Bill Kilgore is very much involved in another high school basketball championship race.

The 6-7 Kilgore hasn't missed a Belleville game and can be found in the stands, cheering Belleville High and his two talented and lanky daughters - Ryann and Kristen - to reach the same heights he and coach Lofton Green's Panthers did in 1969.

The winner advances to the state semifinal round.

"No matter what happens Tuesday night," Kilgore says, "I am very proud of this team and my daughters. They are all exceptional talents."

Ryann, a 6-1 senior, and her sister, Kristen, a 6-0 junior, are the two prize players in Tiger coach Kevin Edwards' high-powered and talented girls' basketball team which has won 24 of its 25 games this year and has racked up an incredible 47-3 overall record during the Edwards' two-year tenure as the Tiger coach.

The Kilgore sisters are only part of the Belleville success story. Complementing this unique lineup of talented young athletes are such standouts as Jenetria Harden, Crystal Steward, and Courtney Ivan.

The Tigers have faced little opposition in the post-season phase, beating most teams by 20 or more points. Belleville also avenged their only loss of the 1999 campaign with a stunning 45-27 victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer, the only team that had defeated them this year.

That Belleville victory clinched for the Tigers their second consecutive Class A regional championship and earned them a return trip to the state quarterfinals.

It definitely will not be an easy quarterfinals for Edwards and his quintet. They faced the season-long No. 1 ranked (Associated Press) team in the state, undefeated Lansing Everett, in Eaton Rapids Tuesday night.

The winner advances to the state semifinal round which will be staged over the weekend in Mt. Pleasant at Central Michigan University.

Edwards' strategy for Lansing Everett is a simple one he points out. He says he will continue to do the things that have gotten the Tigers this far.

"Pressure from our guards and everyone else, and keep our turnovers and mistakes at a minimum."

Obviously, no team this year has been able to cope with Lansing's Everett's intimidating style of play. The matchup in the quarterfinals however will give the Tigers the edge under the boards because of team's overall height advantage.

But Belleville may be vulnerable at the perimeter where Everett has a pair of excellent shooting stars.

Is Lansing Everett an unstoppable force?

Edwards doesn't think so. "If that's the case," he told a gathering of sports reporters, "then we shouldn't even show up. Just give them the trophy right now."

In the blowout at South Lyon, Kristen Kilgore tossed in 25 points, while Ivan chipped in with 14 and Ryann added 11 points and 10 rebounds in the Tigers' 60-33 pasting of Adrian.

Inkster AD offers apology

A "forfeit" of a high school athletic event is a very rare occurrence.

But, it happened recently during the Class B district girls' basketball playoffs scheduled at River Rouge.

In the semifinal rounds, after Inkster had drawn a first-round bye, the Vikings were to play Grosse Ile.

The Islanders did show up at the host school, Rouge, and were ready for combat; Inkster was a mysterious "no show".

The problem was that the Vikings remained at home, believing the playoffs were to be staged on the home court.

Newly-appointed athletic director Preston James took full responsibility for foul-up and last week issued a statement to the media to explain the circumstances leading to the mix-up.

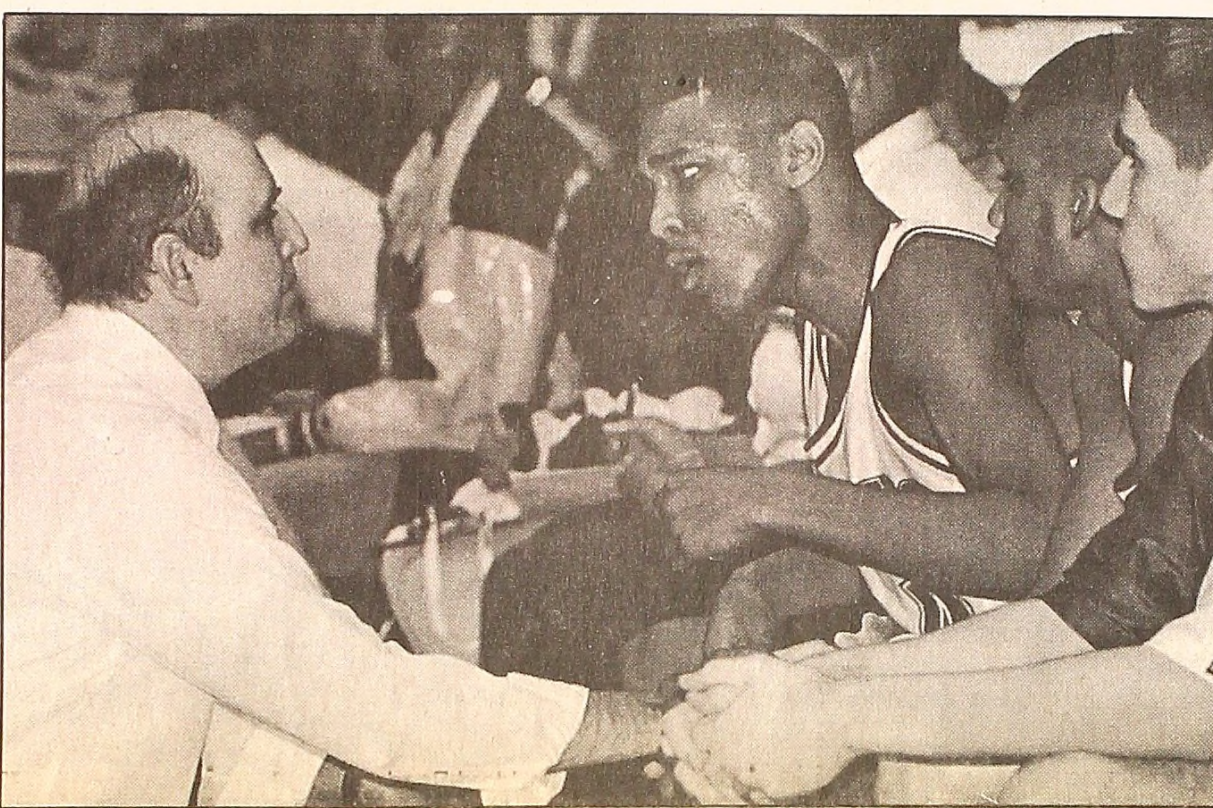

James had taken over the responsibility of directing the athletic fortunes of the high school in October after long-time coach-educator-athletic director George Thompson Jr. decided to retire.

Thompson was replaced by the school board, but the newly appointed AD quit only after three weeks on the job, and the board quickly went into a huddle and when they came back they picked James to handle the responsibility.

Although heavily burdened by a personal loss, James did accept the position.

In a letter to the media, James explained: "...I feel bad and indeed embarrassed by what happened at the district tournament.

"A little over two months ago I lost my wife of twenty-five years to cancer. The retirement of our previous Athletic Director and the sudden quitting (after three weeks) of a new AD created a stressful situation to handle.

Veteran coach Guy DelGiudice (above, kneeling) has most of his starters back from a team that was in the thick of the Mega Conference, Red Division title chase a year ago. DelGiudice's Eagles are picked to finish atop of the division this year. They'll open Tuesday on the home court against Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Schuette: We're going to have to learn to play together

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Mike Schuette has a simple axiom for success this season.

It is: "We must learn to play together."

If John Glenn's freshly assembled crop of players do, they will be one of the toughest teams in the Western Lakes Conference this season.

And if they don't?

"We're in trouble," said Schuette, who, in his eighth year as head coach at Glenn - has a smorgasbord of talent and the good fortune of having back in his lineup a premier player who deflected a year ago to one of the basketball academies in the South.

"There is talent on this team," Schuette stressed. "We have a very athletic roster, but if we don't jell we will be vulnerable in a league that always seem to have outstanding talent."

Schuette sees Plymouth-Salem with the firepower to fuel another drive to the top of the league, but he predicts that the Farmington schools - Harrison, North Farmington and Farmington, along with Walled Lake Western - will emerge as legitimate title contenders.

"Believe me, we don't have an easy road to go down," Schuette warns. "If we don't jell as a team fast, we're going to sink fast."

How quick Schuette can channel all-state running back Eric Jones' abilities, and 6-4 tight end Ben Harris' athletic skills into producing baskets instead of yards and touchdowns is the big question.

Jones, a 6-0 senior, broke into the varsity lineup as a freshman and his credentials are impeccable. As the point guard and co-captain of this team, Jones will definitely run

Who will run Wayne High's hoop show?

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Coming off his worst season a year ago as a basketball coach at Wayne Memorial, coach Chuck Henry is looking to the perimeter to find someone who can run the show.

A year ago, a weakened-by-injuries Wayne posted an anemic 7-14 overall record and Henry is looking for replacements to rebound and reestablish a program that produced three consecutive conference titles and two back-to-back appearances in the state quarter finals.

And whether Henry and the Zebras can weather the rigors of a vastly improved conference, time will tell.

"Rouge, Romulus, Willow Run and Belleville are primed again to set the pace in our division," said Henry. "Romulus has most of its starters back, and Willow Run, Rouge and Belleville have enough talent to challenge. Don't count Ypsilanti out of it, either."

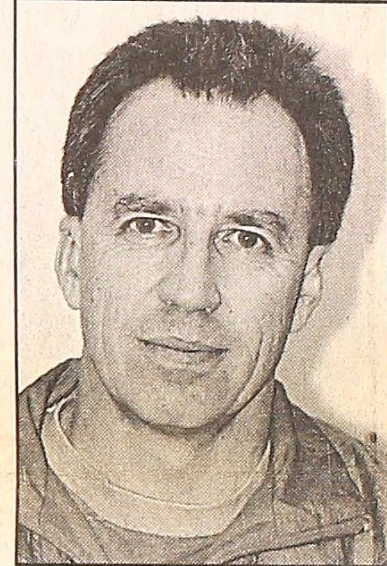

Numerically, that leaves only two teams which may be looking from the outside in. Those two are Wayne and Inkster.

Can that truly be so?

No one ever counts Wayne out. The Zebras have not been cakewalks, even last year when they lost 14 games. Most of those losses could have gone either way.

But to move up into the ranks of contender, Wayne definitely will need strong reinforcements. Since successful Wayne teams lived and died in the backcourt, Henry may avoid double digit losses if three-year varsity member Shane Nowak, a 5-8 guard, becomes the unstoppable player some believe he can be.

Nowak has displayed signs of greatness, but the senior co-captain will have to be more consistent if Wayne is to be a winner in '99-2000.

Teron Smith, injured in an auto accident a year ago, is ready to make his comeback. The 6-0 senior started the first three games of the last campaign before the accident swept him to the sidelines.

Off of his early practice session, Smith appears ready for combat duty.

And also set to start is Justin Goins, who, at 6-3, is the tallest player on the Wayne roster this year.

"Because of injuries, Justin started a few games for us last year," Henry said. "We need him to work around the boards where we could be vulnerable due to our lack of size."

Wayne has always appeared to be ready to sacrifice their inside game while living an dying with their outside, three guard system.

Hopefully, three prize sophomore - Jeff Logwood (6-3), James McCleod (5-10) and Clifton Edwards (5-10) will help to shore up Wayne's inside game for a Zebra team

Changing of guards

Old pro Alvin 'Bo' Dukes returns to coach Inkster Vikings

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

There has been a changing of guards, of sorts, at Inkster High School.

William Springer, interim head basketball coach, has stepped aside to allow a former Inkster basketball star, Alvin "Bo" Dukes to take over the program.

Dukes, an All-State guard at Inkster during the late 1970s, went on to star at Xavier University in New Orleans before launching his professional career in Europe. He played for Swedish, Italian and other teams on the continent before returning to the States.

"Bo" also was recently installed into Xavier's Hall of

To reach the promised land, Dukes will have a couple of leaders, but the bench is anemic and without backup strength, it's going to be a long year for the newest coach on the block.

Fame.

"We're happy to have him here as our coach," said Preston James, Inkster athletic director, who replaced George Thompson Jr. as AD in late October.

"Needless to say coach Dukes has excellent credentials."

Thompson retired in October after 30 years with the Inkster Public Schools. He is one of the most successful basketball coaches in the state, and he served as head of the Inkster Athletic Department, on and off, for more than 10 years.

Dukes takes over a program that has been teetering on the brink of disaster. The once-mighty Vikings won only four of 18 games a year ago, and were one step above the cellar in the Mega Conference, Red Division.

The Mega Red is the top tier in a four-tier (Red, White, Blue and Gold) conference, and this year the "Red" will be a division dominated by River Rouge, the defending champ, and divisional runner-up, Romulus, a team that returns most of its 1998-99 starting lineup.

Rouge, Romulus, and Belleville are the pre-season title favorites, but Willow Run is also expected to join the title race.

Numbers, the lack of depth, that is, also has plagued the Vikings in recent years. The obvious problem that "Bo" faces is to find enough talent to grace a roster that boasted only a handful of players the last two seasons.

In a conference where game-after-game teams must be prepared to give more than 100 percent, if Dukes can break even in his inaugural season, he will be fortunate.

To reach the promised land, Dukes will have a couple of leaders, but the bench is anemic and without backup strength, it's going to be a long year for the newest coach on the block.

that has been anything but meek when it comes to going to the boards.

Henry also has junior Gary Johnson, a 5-10 guard, with a deadly jump shot, available. In his 17th year as head coach at Wayne - his 29th year in coaching, Henry believes that success nowadays starts at the point guard spot and he's betting that the talent is there to make his team competitive again.

"We lost several games by a basket or two. We were never blown out in any of our games," Henry said. "There is a high level of talent in our league, but I believe we can compete on any level if we stay healthy."

On Tuesday, Wayne and Henry get an opportunity to test his theory and what the future may hold for them when coach Dan Young and the Plymouth-Canton Chiefs pay them a visit.

Canton, considered a legitimate title contender in the Western Lakes Conference, burned Wayne in an overtime thriller a year ago. Look for another barnburner Tuesday night.

"He (Jones) can do everything for this team to be successful. Provide leadership and the psychological support a team needs when the going gets tough," offered Schuette.

Primed for his second year of varsity competition, Harris also must provide the Rockets with the firepower around the basket. His efforts last year helped decide the outcome of several key games.

And there is a big surprise waiting Glenn opponents: 6-8 Yaku Moton has returned to Glenn for his senior year. He's the blue chipper that Glenn was counting on to sweep the boards a year ago, but Moton had other plans. He went to Mt. Zion Academy, down South, to seek his fortunes but apparently discovered that the pasture is greener here in Westland.

"We are happy to have him back," said Schuette. "We don't know what level his game has reached, but I guess we will soon find out."

Schuette also has the services of 6-1 kicking specialist, Jeremy Catarino, who saw limited action in last year's 14-8 campaign. Catarino will add firepower from the perimeter and will complement the back-ground.

Two prize juniors - Brent Bogle, who is 6-0, and Michael Franks, at 6-1, who were starters on a 500 junior varsity club a year ago, come to the varsity with great expectations.

The Rockets also will have the services of a transfer student from Buffalo, New York. Eric Marshall, a 6-5 junior forward, moved into town, and the Rockets are thankful that his family did. However, Marshall won't be eligible to play until the second semester.

Like most local and area teams, John Glenn will launch the 1999-2000 basketball campaign Tuesday. They are on the road and will face out-of-conference rival, Ann Arbor Huron.

Schuette says that, although he knows little about their opening-day opponent, he does know "that traditionally Huron has an excellent basketball program."

Here we go again

Do you recall those last hurrahs of a year ago, and those final comments by local basketball coaches reminding fans and all who took note that we should wait-until-next-year when the 1999-2000 crop of players will take over the hardwood? Well, folks, "next year" is here. High school basketball teams locally and across the state will be on the hardwood Tuesday night to begin their final games of the 20th century. Who has the horses to make a run for the title? That apparently has not changed as area coaches predict Plymouth-Salem will probably be one of the leaders of the pack in the Western Lakes Conference, while Romulus and Belleville have an excellent shot of dethroning River Rouge in the Mega Conference, Red Division.

Don't just impress the neighbors. Impress yourself.

Inkster has a perfect farmclub

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Under coach Mark Townsend's guidance, Inkster High's varsity football team finished with an historic and record-shattering 7-3 mark on the gridiron.

And thanks to Townsend and staff, the football program appears to be turned in the right direction. The Vikings should continue on the right track thanks to the Inkster Raiders, a "farm club" made up of youngsters who represent the Inkster Youth Athletic Association in little league football.

The Raiders recently finished an outstanding season.

The Pee Wee Little League Football team wound up with an 8-1 won-lost record. And the 8 to 11 year olds, 60-90-pounders, improved upon that record. They posted an undefeated and unscored upon regular season.

"We are very proud of the accomplishments of our teams not only on the field of competition, but also off the field," said Maurice Adams, publicist for the group. "Our football teams - on the high school and little league levels - brought much excitement and pride to the city and the Inkster Youth Athletic Association."

The Raiders managed to post a combined record of 17-1 won-lost season under the coaching acuity of Bryon Hendricks, Edmond Wesley, Tyrone Stewart and Derrick Rush. Not only did the Raiders' 8 to 11 year old team go undefeated, they also managed to stop their opponents from scoring a TD against them. Members of the team and their numbers are: Ivan Hawkins (2), Antwan Hawkins (4), Rachal Prentiss (6), Antonio Ledbetter (8), Deandre Jackson (12), Charles Murphy (17), Joshua Bicy (20), David Stephens (26), Richard Laron Donald (30), Linzie Robinson (36), Andre Malone (40), Renty Rollins (41), Matthew Darnell (48), William McNac (52), Ken Brown (55), Jay Von Moultrie (56), Eric Carr (57), Quovontae Ross-McCants (63), Jerry Hickman (64), Luther Rush (73), Gerald McCants (75), Cory McQueen (76), Julius Young (77), Dwight McNac (82), and Keshawn Martin (84). Photo by Brown's Special Events Services

The Southeast Michigan Pop Warner Jr. Pee Wee Division title-winning Raiders were picked as favorites to win the Southeast Michigan Pop Warner Championship after beating the Bulldogs in the first-round playoff game. The game was played at neighboring Robichaud High School.

The Raiders were matched against a tough Cannon Tar team out of Detroit in the championship game.

The Detroiters came into the title showdown with a respectable 4-3 record, and they also came to play. The Raiders managed to lead throughout the game by one TD but, with a minute and 47 remaining, a missed tackle led to a 42-yard touchdown by Cannon that broke the tie and resulted in what proved to be the Raiders lone setback of the season.

Despite the loss, the runners-up champion Raiders were invited to participate in the Southeast Michigan Pop Warner Invitational Bowl Game.

The Bowl featured visiting Little Scholar Pop Warner teams from northern Indiana and Chicago-land Pop Warner of Illinois.

Working overtime, the Raiders managed to come out of the Bowl winners as first-year player Linzie Robinson raced 10-yards around the right side of the line and into the Illinois end zone for the touchdown.

Linzie carried the ball 15 times and picked up a total of 82 yards. Teammate Joshua Bicy, a second-year Raider, also stood out as the young quarterback rushed for 36 yards on six attempts.

On defense, Robinson also stood out with 10 solo tackles and three sacks of the quarterback.

According to coach Byron Hendricks, Robinson has been the backbone of the squad since informing the coach in the season opener: "Coach, give me the ball. I can score a touchdown!"

Definitely, 1999 was a banner year for the Raiders.

For the year 2000, Linzie and Joshua will move up a notch, to the older Inkster Raiders' Pee Wee team for boys 9 to 12 weighing between 70-110 pounds. They definitely will be assets to the older boys.

Artrain pulls into station

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Artrain USA, the nation's only traveling art museum on a train, is returning home to Ann Arbor with one of its most exciting exhibitions to date, "Artistry of Space," featuring artworks from NASA and the National Air and Space Museum art collections. This exhibition, which launched in Washington, D.C. in July, opens for the first time in Michigan on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 4 - 5 and Dec. 11 - 12, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., at Artrain USA's headquarters, located at 1100 N. Main Street. Admission is ter, located in the NEW Center. In the Creation Station, co-sponsored by the Ann Arbor Art Center, children can paint ceramic tiles and create sand-paper prints. The Creation Station is open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Admission is $1.

The Artistry of Space exhibition, which is sponsored by DaimlerChrysler and transported to Ann Arbor by Norfolk Southern, consists of three gallery cars that feature 78 paintings, drawings, prints and sketches from the NASA Art Program illustrating the history of the NASA Space Program. Chronicling almost four decades of NASA space missions, the exhibition features artworks from world-renowned artists including Peter Max, Robert McCall, Robert Rauschenberg, Norman Rockwell and Andy Warhol. In a creative melding of art and science, the artists, responding to space exploration on emotional and spiritual levels, have documented the work of engineers, astronauts, and scientists throughout NASA's history.

Car One, named "Power to Go," focuses on the formative years of NASA's program and covers the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo missions. With dramatic images of sophisticated machinery and man's first steps on the Moon, famous American artists documented the Space Race. In Car 2, "The Second Giant Step," some of the greatest achievements in space history are depicted through the missions of space shuttles Discovery, Atlantis and Endeavour, as well as one of the most tragic events in the loss of the Challenger crew in 1986. Completing the exhibition gallery is Car 3, "Go for the Stars," where the imagery, more abstract in style, references some of NASA's most recent and future initiatives depicting deep-space probes, exploration of black holes and Martian terrain. It features images from planetary probes such as Mariner, Voyager, Magellan, Mars Pathfinder and the Hubble Space Telescope.

Visitors to the train are invited to tour the "Artistry of Space" exhibition, take part in an interactive photo station, visit the gift shop and interact with Artrain USA's resident artist and local community artists who are demonstrating their skills onboard. Artrain USA brings fun, art education and space exploration to people of all ages.

Traveling the nation's railroads, Artrain USA continues to fulfill its mission of enriching lives and building communities through the arts by bringing visual art exhibitions and programs directly to communities that do not have access to museums or collections. To date, Artrain USA has traveled to 44 states and the District of Columbia reaching more than 2.6 million visitors in 600 communities since its first stop in 1971. The "Artistry of Space" exhibition will visit more than 100 cities in 40 states during its three-year tour.

Sense and Seussability: Test Your Grinch I.Q. with this Fun Holiday

For young and old alike, one of the most anticipated events of the holiday season - other than Santa's arrival and a few days vacation - is watching "How The Grinch Stole Christmas."

Many of us have watched the captivating movie adaptation of Dr. Seuss' 1957 classic children's story for years, so we naturally assume we're experts on all things Grinchian. But how well do we know our Grinchy facts?

Pull up a chair, pop open a can of Who-hash, and try the following quiz inspired by www.inkweb.com/grinch (answers below):

- 1) How many sizes too small was the Grinch's heart?
- 2) What was the main reason the Grinch hated Christmas?
- 3) What would comprise the Whos' typical Christmas Day feast?
- 4) After eating their Christmas meal, what did the Whos do that the Grinch liked least of all?
- 5) What was the Grinch's dog's name?
- 6) What did the Grinch use to fasten the big horn on his dog's head?
- 7) What were "the first things to go" when the Grinch reached the first Who house?
- 8) Who was the only Who who saw the Grinch on Christmas Eve?
- 9) How old was she?
- 10) What did the reformed Grinch do at the Whos' Christmas feast?

Now that you're feeling pretty confident, how about tackling the 1998 Latin version of the story or "Quomodo Invidiosulus Nomine GRINCHUS Christi Natalem Abrogaverit" as its scholar-translator Dr. Jennifer Tunberg and Dr. Terence Tunberg have affectionately titled it?

"Over the past four decades, 'How the Grinch Stole Christmas' had already been published in twenty languages," explained Jennifer, a specialist in paleography of medieval manuscripts copied in Latin who teaches at the University of Kentucky with husband Terence. "With Latin being a 'hot' language once again, both Terence and I felt privileged to be able to render Theodor Geisel's marvelous classic tale into a contemporary Latin version."

Terence, a specialist in medieval and neo-Latin literature and fellow ardent Seuss fan agreed, adding that "Latin is easy for most people to learn. It has long been the language of science, math, medicine and learning, and is actually the basis of 65% of English words and 90% of those containing more than two syllables."

"Quomodo Invidiosulus Nomine GRINCHUS Christi Natalem Abrogaverit" features the original 1957 color illustrations and translation faithful to Seuss's brilliant use of rhyme and wordplay. As in the original English version, it tells how the Grinch (Grinchus) tries to diminish the holiday joy of the Whos (Laetuli) by stealing their feast, decorations and gifts, but eventually comes to appreciate the true meaning of Christmas. A complete Latin-English glossary included in the back of the book provides entertainment and help for Seuss fans exploring or revisiting Latin.

"When direct Latin counterparts were unavailable for such modern phrases as 'popcorn' and 'refrigerator', the Tunbergs came up with the wonderfully inventive maizia inflata (corn puffed up) and armarium frigidarium (cooling chest)," said Marie Bolchazy of Bolchazy-Carducci Publishers. "Sharing this timeless tale in Latin can not only start a fun family holiday tradition, it's a great way to stimulate your children's minds and start them on the path to a new language."

Studies have shown that Latin students' mean SAT score is 142 points higher than the national average of 505, and that elementary school Latin students in Washington, DC developed reading skills five months ahead of those who studied no foreign language. This not only underscores the importance of Latin in children's school curriculums, it positions Latin teaching as one of the career tracks for the new millennium.

The new Latin version of "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" can be found at all Barnes and Noble stores, online at www.barnesandnoble.com, and other major book retailers.

[ANSWERS: 1) two; 2) all the noise; 3) Who-putting, rare Who-roast-beast; 4) sing; 5) Max; 6) red thread; 7) Who stockings; 8) Little Cindy-Lou Who; 9) not more than two; 10) carved the roast beast.]

Committee sets Canton's sidewalk construction priorities

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

"Step on a crack, break your mother's back." Township children won't be chanting the rhyme while dodging fissured sidewalks much longer.

Canton's newly formed sidewalk committee is making progress on prioritizing which links of sidewalk in the community get constructed and when.

Canton's Board of Trustees recently asked for volunteers to participate in a sidewalk committee. The Board had agreed to establish a yearly sidewalk construction budget and wanted the input of residents from various locations in the community.

The task of the committee has been to identify all of the sidewalk gaps in Canton and prioritize which of these links of sidewalk get constructed and when.

The committee began meeting in October and each member was given a specific location of the community in which to identify all gaps in the sidewalk.

They then prioritized which of those gaps in their assigned area warranted getting sidewalks constructed, and further prioritized which of those areas warranted getting sidewalks constructed first.

Upon completion of the prioritizing, the recommendations will be presented to the Board of Trustees.

Earlier this year, Canton's Board of Trustees also approved a sidewalk ordinance and program for the community which began to be implemented in a few neighborhoods, similar to many programs currently implemented in neighboring communities.

The program is being implemented in an effort to promote safety in Canton neighborhoods and improve the appearance of the community.

For the kids

For those who have been living under a rock, here's the holiday shopping tip of the season--Pokemon is the gift of choice for the pre-teen set. However, if you're shopping for a child who doesn't happen to live in your home--perhaps a favored niece or god child--you may find that keeping up with the hundreds of Pokemon collector's cards is just too much of an undertaking. Try buying a hat or tee shirt, like these at the T-Shirt Place in the Westland Shopping Center.

For Mom

For the kids

You can't go wrong with the basics, say Connie Jones and Jane Wood, Super KMart, Canton. Traditional games are huge this year, as people continue to spend more time at home with family, and need TV-free activities. Above, traditional figurines take on a new twist in the form of wrestling star walkie talkies, and the "Working Woman" Barbie doll. At left, Elmo is still popular with the tykes, especially the new "Rock & Roll Elmo," complete with guitar and "leather" jacket.

For the host

The Westland Mall's gourmet popcorn store, Pop Culture, not only offers dozens of selections of tasty corn, but also carries an array of gift tins. You can be "pop"ular at any party--for a very reasonable price.

Christmas magic shows

Children of all ages are invited to Westland Shopping Center to enjoy a Christmas Magic Show. Bill Schult of Absolutely Baffling Magic brings Rudolph the Reindeer along for 35 minutes of magic tricks, zany antics and audience participation. Join Rudolph and Bill on Saturday, December 4 for three magic shows at the Westland Shopping Center, on Warren Road, at Wayne Road, in the West Court, near JC Penney's entrance. Showtimes are 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Realtor, mom celebrates banner year

Tracy Ball

By CAROL MARSHALL
MCN Staff Writer

Who says you can't have it all? One local hard-working realtor and mother says you can. One of Belleville's newest real estate agents, Tracy Ball, recently reached a significant milestone in her new career—sales of $2 million in 1999.

Friends encouraged her to pursue her real estate license, and with friends and family cheering her on, she passed her state licensing exam on her first attempt.

She went right to work in April, 1998, at Huron Valley Realty, choosing the independent office for its reputation.

Ball says she was also drawn to the company's family atmosphere. In fact her husband, Dave, already worked for Huron Valley Realty as a building contractor, setting up new modular homes.

As a Buyer Agent, Ball has confidently helped many young couples move into their first home—an exciting, yet stressful endeavor.

On the other side of the coin, sellers also take comfort knowing that the process of selling their home is going smoothly thanks to Ball's competence and diligence.

She also chalks up much of her success to the company she works for. Her friendly, laid-back coworkers and family atmosphere make coming to work a pleasure, despite the challenges of juggling such a demanding career with raising a family.

Students access Web library

Think of it as a library without walls that's open 24 hours a day. Belleville High School students now have the opportunity to use cutting edge digital information tools, whether at school, at the library, or at home.

With passwords available from their librarian, students may access Bridges, an education, career and employment information source; Electric Library, an extensive database of magazines, books, newspapers, maps, pictures, radio and television broadcasts; and OCLC First Search multiple databases from any computer anywhere in the world at anytime.

All BHS students have been offered the opportunity to participate in Internet training and to sign and submit an Acceptable Use Agreement required to access the Internet on school computers. Once trained, the students' ID card will be marked, and the ID must be shown at each login when using school computers.

Media Specialists Karen Hunchberger and Susan Kennedy are committed to maintaining a core collection of print resources, but digital resources are becoming increasingly important—sometimes replacing older print versions of the same product. Students find the ease of search and retrieval an improvement over older print indexes.

Santa's coming to town

According to weather-forecasters, Santa is expected to land his sleigh on snow-covered South River Park Drive near the City Hall when he arrives on Wednesday. Santa, and Mrs. Claus, along with their helpers, plan to join residents in the traditional tree-lighting ceremony which will begin, barring any unforeseeable circumstance, around 6 p.m. when Mayor Hilliard Hampton Jr. and the newly-installed city council plan to present Old Saint Nick with a key to the city. As he has in the past, Santa also plans to meet with the children after the tree-lighting ceremony to discuss with them their Christmas list.

Inkster Deltas commemorate sorority's 40th anniversary

An elegant setting and warm memories will serve as backdrops when the Inkster Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. celebrates its 40th anniversary with a dinner-dance on Sat., Dec. 18 at the Marriott Hotel in downtown Detroit.

The event will celebrate the chapter's 40 years of public service to western Wayne County.

"We want to remember the enormous contributions we have made in the areas of educational development, economic development, physical and mental health, political awareness, international awareness and arts and letters," said Dorothy Garrett, program co-chairwoman.

Guests will enjoy the music of Rudy Robinson's band. For more information about tickets, call Garrett at 313-277-0995.

Nineteen western Wayne County chartered Inkster Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority on Dec. 19, 1959. The chapter's many projects have included sponsorship of career clinics, voter registration drives and black college tours.

The chapter also has donated more than $20,000 for scholarships for worthy students.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority is a public service organization founded in 1913 by 22 undergraduate students at Howard University in Washington, D.C. The sorority now boasts more than 185,000 members worldwide.

The sorority counts among its nationally and internationally-known celebrities prominent former U.S. Congresswoman Barbara Jordan and Shirley Chisholm, along with movie and TV star Lena Horne and opera diva Leontyne Price and activists Mary McLeod Bethune and Dorothy I. Height.

Council seeks Greenhouse down-date

The abandoned multi-windowed greenhouse building on the south side of Michigan Avenue has stood devoid of plants and humans for more than a decade, and councilman Ernest Hendricks wants what has become an eyesore removed permanently from the city's landscape.

Hendricks asked City Manager Robert Gordon when the building would be demolished, and if the city has any prospective tenants for the centrally-located property.

"I don't understand why that building has not come down," Hendricks said. "I want a down-date."

Gordon said he has been in contact with state officials and, "hopefully by the end of the year, we will have a definitive answer for you."
